CAMP SHELBY CAUSES END OF BARBERS' STRIKE

FORGER WEARING UNIFORM WORKS CANTEENS.

BIG HOWITZER IS MADE

HATTIESBURG, Miss., February 7.— The barbers' strike at Hattiesburg is settled. The citizens, the barbers and the journeymen barbers held a conference. The boss barbers refused to increase the price of shaves to 20 cents by charging an additional 5 cents for neck shave. A hint came from Camp Shelby that if it was cashed, diving the name of some organization in the camp to which he pretended to be attached. The name signed to the check was Woolly.
Captain Thomas F. Riley, 151st, was surprised last evening to learn that he is in France. He gained the information from the headlines of a Gary newspaper. Captain Riley took a detachment of troops from Camp Shelby to another camp preparatory for their departure for foreign service, and then returned to his command here.
"Like the stories of the death of Mark Twain some years ago," said Captain Riley, "The report of my being in France is very much exaggerated. I am not in France, but I am very willing and anxious to go there."

gence department at Camp Shelby re-was to run hurriedly into the canteen, present the check to the officer in charge with the request that it be cashed, div-

lerymen think—reposes majestically on the gun park of the 128th field artillery, Indianapolis' second contribution to the government's regiments of "heavies." It has a wicked looking muzzle, which is pointed toward the skies, and its big, long, gray trail gives it the appearance of a pictured monster. But the 128th's howitzer is a home-made one. The four other artillery regiments in camp, the 4th, 15th, 16th and 18th, are all three-inch regiments, and therefore they have plenty of regular cannons. There is a goodly supply of three-inch material in this country, but there are no six-inch howitzers, so far as the Indianapolis officers know, in the whole United States, and necessity again became the mother of invention.
While the other gunners were drilling around their guns the 128th was French 155 millimeter howitzer when it

General W. H. Sage, commanding following order, which comes from the war department:

"Headquarters Camp Shelby, Miss., February 6, 1913. General orders No.
8: 1 (A) The following extract from a recent communication from the adjutant-general of the army is published for the information of all commanders: In this connection you are advised that the pernicious activities of young officers to secure appointment, promotion and transfers through the aid of influential friends would indicate a wide-spread lack of the propriety, to say nothing of the disposition to ignore orders and regulations.
"It is directed that all matters of this kind which come to your attention be dealt with as severely as regulations permit. This activity is hampering the administration, increasing the volume of correspondence, and, if not suppressed, will greatly menace the discipline of national guard organizations.
"(B) Violation of orders and regula-
